Since 1999, when they began to work together, Kai Gleusteen and Catherine Ordroneau have established themselves as one of the most important duos in the interpretation of repertoire for violin and piano. Having performed more than 100 recitals in Europe, Canada, and the US, they are praised for their unique partnership, and for the emotional power of their interpretations. Both performers are exceptional musicians. Together, they played with intensity and unrelenting commitment to the music, searching out the most exquisite ways to shape and phrase melodies and to gently underline expressive harmony.
